Amaferm is a unique prebiotic that feeds strains of fungi within the gut that specifically branch more and farther into feed particles to allow for more surface area for good bacteria to break down feed into useful parts for the animal. It is unique in that it is useful in all species. Amaferm promotes more fungal growth, more enzyme activity, and more bacterial growth which in turn increases feed intake and digestibility. This is from the increase in microbial protein production and VFA production that directly feeds the animal. Amaferm® is a registered trademark of BioZyme.
